Carla receives several email attachments in a language she doesn't speak, but she doesn't have access to her translation vendor.

Choosing the merge plus translate workflow, all the different file types are put into a single PDF and then translated altogether, making it easy to understand the content and respond appropriately.

The case for automation

The need.
In this multicultural world of work, we need to communicate more effectively and accurately.

The problem.
You receive weekly updates from an overseas client. They always send these in their native language, which means a lot of time before you can act on them.

The automated solution.
Set up an automated Translate workflow to monitor the inbox for the client's specific email address. All attachments will automatically get translated and placed in your 'to process' cloud folder, ready for you.
